

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Contact: Mary Poche'
512.329.8426; marketing@legiant.com

Power Up Construction Sites with Remote Job Tracking

AUSTIN, Texas – February, 26, 2007 – Legiant, a leading provider of workforce management software, announces the release of their new Legiant Construction Clock that connects your remote job sites to your home office.

Tracking construction workers' time and attendance on remote job sites is one of the toughest challenges facing construction companies today. Undependable paper systems frequently result in overpayments that eat away at profits, or underpayments that can set companies up for legal violations.

Legiant Construction Clock is a powerful and portable remote time tracking solution that uses the industry's most complete automated time and attendance solution available today. The benefits include totally self-powered, directly connects job site to home office, paper-free timesheet and paycheck processing, payroll matched perfectly to hours logged, and industry compliance for payroll requirements.

Legiant Construction Clock is easy to use and houses everything you need in a secure clock station structure. For more information on the innovative Legiant Construction Clock visit www.legiant.com

Contact Legiant today to give your remote job sites the power of efficient and effective time tracking. Call 1.877.760.8463 or visit the website at www.legiant.com

About Legiant

Legiant is a privately held, cutting edge time and attendance leader providing flexible solutions to enhance the profitability and productivity of an organizations workforce.